

The Family Guide to Dyslexia Discussion Cards – Secondary

Print. Cut up. Play. Talk.

Does dyslexia affect exam options?	Do you find it easy to adapt to change?	Which teachers expect you to do well in their subject?
Do you worry about school work?	Do you write notes in the margins of text books	Are you good at meeting deadlines?
What is your best subject?	Do you use a spellchecker?	Independent thinker or team player?
Does the text jump up and down or trickle off the page?	Do you find you get very tired when you do a lot of reading and writing?	Would dyslexia make it hard for someone to learn how to drive?
Should job applicants tell an employer that they have dyslexia?	Do you correct your work as you go along or proof read at the end?	On a scale of 1 low – 5 high, how tidy are you?
What three words describe you best?	What are your plans for when you leave school?	What do you do when you cannot write fast enough?
How do you cope with exam pressure?	Have you turned down an opportunity because of dyslexia?	Do you think dyslexia is as much of a problem for adults as children?
Are you a good time keeper	When was the last time you tried something new and frightened yourself?	When things don't go well are you more likely to feel angry or sad?
What was the most creative thing you have ever done?	How do you revise for exams?	If you were starting a business, what would it be?
Is it better to do homework straight after school or leave it till later in the evening?	What qualities do you most admire in other people?	Exam boards offer special arrangements for candidates with dyslexia. What do you know about these?